AutoCAD LT Professional Edition is a commercial product. Release history Acquisition by Autodesk In 2000, on October 31, Autodesk and Plantronics announced the formation of a strategic alliance. According to that, Autodesk would acquire Plantronics in order to enhance the business opportunity in the AutoCAD area. At that time, Plantronics had a market share of 7%. However, the acquisition was not approved by the United States Department of Justice and Autodesk discontinued the alliance. In 2004, Autodesk and Computer Associates announced a merger. In 2012, Autodesk and Dassault Systemes announced that they would merge their respective engineering product lines. In October 2016, it was announced that Autodesk would acquire Graphisoft, to improve productivity and focus on visualization. In December 2016, Autodesk announced the acquisition of 3DSystems, an industry leader in 3D printing for the architectural, architectural product design, and automotive industries, for $1.6 billion. Autodesk had been actively seeking to sell off its smaller businesses, such as GDS Solutions (i.e., ArchiCAD), and in May 2019, Autodesk announced that it had completed the sale of its GDS Solutions business to Silicon Studio. In October 2019, Autodesk announced a new division, Convergence Architecture, to provide open-source 3D modeling tools such as ArchiCAD.
